

In many countries children are engaged in some kind of paid work. Some people regard this as completely wrong, while others consider it as valuable work experience, important for learning and taking responsibility.

I tend to agree that children should be occupied with ~~by~~ some careers to gain some experiences and learn the way of management of money while obtaining different skills. However, some ignore this important fact and prevent their children from working. it.

There are many benefits to employed children for some duties from an the early age. Dealing with different situations and learning to communicate with a majority of people are the first important parts of children's work. Secondly, by taking some duties and responsibilities they will be a self-determining and well-organized ~~one~~ in the future. In addition, the one who has taken more responsibilities from childhood/young ages/teenage /an the early age, ~~they~~ would be more of an innovator. Also, they have a specific ability to come up with a new idea. As a result of that, those children could be a eminent/prominent/distinguished /particular leader in the future Such as, a President or a manager of a famous company.

However, the government and organizations should apply some restrictions regarding time and consider that the first duty of children is education and then ~~-Then~~, provide some part time jobs for them. Moreover, the job should be according to ~~with~~ the interests and abilities of each child. In fact, this is an as especial and affordable opportunityies for some organizations that ~~they~~ do not need so much time and energy regarding the traineeing courses for new recruits coming.

In conclusion, constructions and development are the results/products offspring of a society with numerous young capable young citizen. This is not achievable /attainable unless children fulfill some kinds of paid work.
